

Warriors Face Toughie Today

By WARREN MILLER

The Wakefield Warriors will play this afternoon what Coach Robbie Robinson believes to be, "definitely the toughest game to date."

Working on their home court, the Warriors will be hosts to George Mason High School of Falls Church, which is presently rated as the number ten team in the Metropolitan area.

The Wakefield varsity, which has won all three of its tilts by defeating the George Washington junior varsity, Richard Montgomery, and Annandale, in that order will be preceded by a game between the two schools.

After taking their first two games easily, Wakefield was almost upset last Friday evening when Annandale came within one point of victory. The Warriors won a free foul shot.

Coach Robinson reports that the Warriors just didn't have "that drive in the first half of the game," as they trailed by ten points. However the tide turned with the start of the third period, as the Wakefield quint pulled even with, then edged out in front of the Annandale five.

The Warriors have suffered two serious losses in their squad, as Al Lederle and Don Richards have been side lined; the latter for the next six weeks, and Lederle for the rest of the season.

Working on a man to man defense, Wakefield will be up against a fast team, that has already defeated the Fairfax and Herndon high schools.

Starting for the Warriors will be Don Richards and Doc Kugler at guards; Ray Regan and Butch Varden at the forward positions; with Henry Mayo at center.

Game time for the junior varsity is one o'clock, with the varsity tilt scheduled for 2 p.m.
